

Overview

- Nephrostomy Catheter is a drainage catheter that aspirates abscess cavity contents. The catheters are manufactured from radiopaque polyetherure-thane material with hydrophilic coating on the surface of the catheter.
- There are two types of Nephrostomy Catheters: Single Step Pigtail Nephrostomy and Percutaneous Malecot Nephrostomy.
- The Nephrostomy Set is composed of the Nephrostomy Catheter and several set components, including a Trocar needle, a connecting tube, and a fixation device (Disc).
- Nephrostomy Catheters are a passageway maintained by a catheter that perforates the skin and terminates in the renal pelvis or clix.
- It has multiple functions but is used most frequently to provide urinary drainage when the ureter is obstructed and retrograde access is inadvisable.
- Biocompatible soft polyurethane catheter.
- Optimal transition between the catheter tip to Guide wire and puncture needle.
- Big lumen for best drainage capacity.
- Radio-opaque catheter.
- Set mean that the device and accessories are packaged together in one Package and then sterilized
- Ureteral Stents and Sets are non-toxic and no-pyrogenic.
- The Device is Sterile, E.O. Gas Sterilization and is a single use.
- Do not reuse.
- Do not resterilize.

Kit Contents:

Ureteric Catheters

Overview

- Ureteric Catheters are a long, small gauge catheters mainly used for drainage, retrograde pyelogram, atraumatic entry of Ureteral Orifice and navigation of tortuous ureter.
- Ureteric Catheter family is comprised of ten different types of Ureteral Catheters.
- The ureteric catheters are in length of 70cm. the catheters may be closed or open-ended.
- Open end tip allows placement over a guidewire for negotiation of a looped or stenotic (tortuous) ureter.
- The catheter tip and tubing shaft are made of radiopaque Polyurethane material.
- Catheters with closed distal ends include one side hole near the tip, whereas catheters with open distal ends do not include a side hole.
- The radiopaque Polyurethane tubing shaft has an adaptor on the proximal end and incremental graduatio marks placed along the distal 50 centimeters of the catheter surface.
- A single side hole is located in the distalend of the catheter.
- Ureteral Stents and Sets are non-toxic and no-pyrogenic.
- The Device is Sterile, E.O. Gas Sterilization and is a single use.
- Do not reuse.
- Do not resterilize.
